5.3 LED DOWN THE GARDEN PATH

BLOEDEL CONSERVATORY

OLYMPICS PROJECTS HAPPENING NOW

Saturday Feb. 27th 5pm to 10pm

LAUNCH of 5.3 LED Down The Garden Path

The third in a series of 5 weekly events, LED Down The Garden Path at the Bloedel Conservatory. Forget robotic lights at sea level, LED at the highest point in the city will be illuminated by an old-school carbon arc searchlight. Paradise will be transformed by sublime projections, evocative images and unexpected elements at Queen Elizabeth Park. Wong and guests have created a media-art installation featuring dozens of new works, including Strangler Tree, The Fallen, Scorched, 2Hot2Handle, Save The Queen by Paul Wong, Walking Through Circles by renowned photographer Brian Howell, Ampli Fly by Christian Nicolay, and Hanging by Heather Keung. For list of works and to experience '5' virtually visit www.5.paulwongprojects.com

TICKETS $10 AT THE DOOR

Bloedel Conservatory @ 33rd Ave. between Cambie and Main St., Vancouver, BC
Parking opens at 4:45, $1 per hour for this event only. Public Transit: Canada Line Oakridge 41st.

5.2 ZOOOOOM REVIEW FEB 20TH WE RULED THE ROADS

For all of those who missed or want to revisit 5.1 the webcast, or 5.2 ZOOOOOM, the reviews and documentation are in, Cultural Seen was there!

"Who knew that riding on a bus could be such a great experience?

[passengers] could see seven screens from the back of the bus but as it got darker, the reflection in the window doubled that number at least twice so that [it looked like 21 screens, creating] an aural and visual cocoon... [culture Seen] nearly hit the ceiling. Other passengers screamed...[there was] an odd feeling of displacement... as [they] watched one thing on the video and saw another on the street."
